Volume Sixty-Two

SUSAN AMUNDSEN
Editor-in-Chief

Your Zephyrus has a history behind its name. It was a balmy afternoon in 1905 that invited the staff of Astoria High's brand new publication to a boating outing on Young's Bay. With nautical skill comparable to their commendable journalistic talents they manned their ship. The winds firmly filled the sails of the boat and they were off. "What a gentle Zephyr!" One of the crew spoke of the western breeze carrying them across the waters. Then and there your school's yearbook

Zephyrus, was born, christened by the waters of Young's Bay and dried by her winds.

As surely as there are Zephyrs playing on Young's Bay today, publishing an annual has become a solidly established tradition of Astoria High. With the 1959 volume the staff has tried to capture the spirit of the Zephyr. It is our sincere wish that you find your book a pleasure as well as a treasured record of your life at AHS in '58—'59.

Foreword

The Zephyrus is our book! On its pages are recorded the moments we wish to remember — our triumphs and achievements, pictures of our friends and the places that we have grown to know so well.

Z is for zeal. Invigorated by zealous Pacific breezes, Astoria High students have transformed that energy into zesty school spirit.

E represents everyone who has helped make AHS what it is today. Townspeople, school boards, administrations, faculties, and students all have contributed.

P means personality. Each student is given an opportunity to develop his individual personality.

H symbolizes honor, which our school endeavors to uphold in athletics, academics, and activities.

Y stands for you, a student at AHS. You help make up the student government of the school.

R is the remembrance of a complete year's activities, as we like to recall them.

U reminds us that the school program universally serves individual group activities for freshman and senior alike.

S covers the daily six hours spent scholastically in the classrooms.

Yes, Z-E-P-H-Y-R-U-S symbolizes a complete coverage of each year's events ever since 1905.

With pride the staff presents your 1958-59 Zephyrus.

Alma Mater

Since 1905 when Astoria High's student body was first organized, its members have upheld the Fighting Fisherman spirit . . . a heritage of which our students and alumni are most proud.

Sports, in particular, show evidence of this spirit. Traditionally a power, even though the smallest school in the Metropolitan League, we earned possession of trophies in both basketball and football during 1958.

We have been developing academically. Since the first class graduated in 1893, our curriculum has been continuously improved and enlarged.

Sharing a pride in Astoria High is the community, whose efforts have created three giant strides for more room and better facilities. In 1911 classes were moved from the cramped McClure building to a large structure "far above Columbia's waters." After fire swept destructively through the auditorium wing in 1947, it became apparent that a new building was needed. In 1957 we excitedly entered a spacious new campus. As our school continues to increase in size, we are thankful that provisions have been made for expansion.

Looking back upon Astoria High's fine past, we are proud to be the present guardians of the Fighting Fisherman Spirit.

*Far above Columbia's waters,
With its waves of blue
Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Glorious to view.*

*Side by side we stand together,
High her banners hold,
Rearing high in pride and glory
Purple and the Gold.*

*Lift the chorus, speed it onward,
Praise her to the sky.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail Astoria High!*

ADMINISTRATION

With the vigor of a sou'wester, both old and new members of the administration swept into their jobs of governing the affairs of Astoria High. The way to more efficient use of class and study time was guided by a new principal and superintendent. A fresh crop of student body officers promoted unifying, morale-building activities for the Fishermen. In piloting their ship into more ideal channels on the river "Education," the administrative crew capably proved themselves.

Superintendent Olds New to School System

Although a newcomer to Astoria, Mr. Douglas Olds, our city school superintendent, is already an enthusiastic booster of our town. He and his family, all avid sports participants, especially enjoy fishing on the Columbia River.

Concerning our school Mr. Olds stated, "Astoria High student body has an outstanding morale and is wonderful to work with. I hope the academic training will provide a good background for future college and occupational plans. We, of the administration and the community, are proud of Astoria High and I believe the students share this pride, and will always gladly claim it as their Alma Mater."

Mr. and Mrs. Olds and Gayle Ann enjoy a quiet evening at home.

Civic Groups Back High School

School Board Serves

Civic-minded members of the school board have diligently carried out numerous projects for the benefit of Astoria High. The school board members do time-consuming chores of setting the policies for Astoria's schools, employing new teachers, and many other duties.

Parents, Teachers Meet

"So you're Sally's mother — she is improving rapidly in English." Such statements rang through the cafeteria as once a month Astoria High parents and teachers met through the PTA. This is the meeting ground for parents and teachers. Here they discuss mutual problems and keep abreast with educational topics.

Mrs. Vernon Fowler, secretary, and Mrs. R. Wright, treasurer, assist President Floyd Reith, who presides over the PTA meeting.

School board members gathered for their monthly meeting in the high school library are Mr. Robert Lovell; Dr. Harvey, chairman; Mr. D. V. Olds, superintendent; Helen Murray, school board clerk; Dr. Pahnrose; Dr. Hickman; and Mr. Robert Graves.

Skaggs Enjoys Year as Principal

Responsible for much of the success of our smooth-running school this past year was Mr. Albert Skaggs. As high school administrator, his duties have been many and varied, but much of his time is spent in counseling students, and working with teachers and parents. As Mr. Skaggs is most interested in people, he finds this enjoyable.

He, Mrs. Skaggs, and their three children especially enjoy Astoria's marine surroundings. Sunny days often find them taking excursions in the family boat. Stating his opinion of Astoria High, Mr. Skaggs said, "I am very pleased with the attitude of the students toward education. They are friendly, and their ambition, spirit, and pride are highly commendable."

Family activities at the Skaggs' home centers around their three children. Here, Eric, Mr. Skaggs, Sharri, and Mrs. Skaggs focus their attention on baby Tim and his duck.

Varied Jobs Keep Sorenson Busy

"It is a pleasure to be a part of Astoria High," replied Mr. Eugene Sorenson, vice principal, who is a familiar figure in the halls, as his many duties carry him over all the school.

The supervision of textbooks, vocational and personal counseling, and administrative duties fill his school hours with activity.

As a well-rounded citizen, Mr. Sorenson lends his enthusiasm to community and church organizations, besides enjoying his hobbies, music, and the inventing of small "gadgets."

Music holds a high rank in the Sorenson family. Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson and Margene are selecting records for an evening's relaxation.

The new Student Council office houses a permanent library for Student Body books, and offers a central meeting place for the Executive Council. Hal Snow, Student Body President.

Student Council, the representative governing body in A.H.S., functions busily throughout the school year, solving the problems of everyday school life, planning school and community projects and activities, giving students experience in governmental practices, and regulating the functions of a smoothly-operating school. Without this organization, Astoria wouldn't be a school for and by the student body.

Student Council members for the second semester are: T. Leigh, M. Josephson, S. Craig, C. Hanson, D. White, R. Osmus, N. Herth, G. Paulson, S. Amundsen, J. Wetzell, S. Richardson, D. Hoagland, M. ACADEMICS

With the first Autumn gusts in September, students of AHS blew back to classes. They found new courses and new teachers awaiting them. The same challenge to meet top scholastic standards and the same opportunities offered by superior facilities and faculty greeted them. To the accompaniment of the wind dashing rain against the windows, they stepped into a new academic adventure. Through calm and stormy days alike they studied and grew in knowledge.

Citizenship

Preparation for better citizens is the theme of social studies classes at AHS. Learning the pattern of high school life keeps the freshmen busy while the sophomores study world governments and cultures. Through debates, panels, and general class discussion, the upperclassmen practice their rights in a democracy.

Science and Math Stressed in High

In a world recently alerted to the importance of math and science, more students than ever before have enrolled in these courses.

In the scientific field, all students are required to take one year of biology or general science. Further courses in science are offered including advanced biology, chemistry and physics.

Ample opportunities are offered for students to advance in math according to their abilities. For the college bound, four years of math are offered. These include algebra, I and II, geometry, and trigonometry.

John Marsch explains to Mr. Reuter and the class his method of solving a problem in advanced algebra.

Astoria's Language Arts program is meeting today's challenge with an increased emphasis on semantics sensitivity, sharpened concepts of language tools, critical and imaginative thinking, and broadened interests in literary art."

Arts Teach Better Expression

"Democracy has been described as a 'government by talk.' Talk in a democracy presupposes intelligence on the part of the speaker, knowledge of what he talks about, and a sense of responsibility for what he says."

— American Speech

Democratic leaders of the world must learn to express their ideas correctly. The Speech Department emphasizes the development of poise and mature expression in our everyday speaking. Classroom work and competitive contests act as tools to strengthen our oratorical weaknesses.

Future

Not all subjects offered at AHS take place in the formal classroom. In the cafeteria wing we find machine shop, wood shop, and mechanical drawing.

Various projects have been completed this year in these classes. Grinding drills, arc welding, making hydroplanes and furniture, and architectural drawing are some of the class units of study which keep vocational-minded students busy.

ACTIVITIES

A whirlwind of student activities intermingled with months of academic endeavor, added zest and color to the daily life at Astoria High School.

The crisp, cool days of fall ushered in Homecoming, which spiraled into one of the year's biggest events. As time continued, the assemblies, plays, and student elections brought us many joyous moments that will be cherished by all.

Registration days ran smoothly for students and faculty members. Receiving money here are Miss Brown, Mrs. Clark, Mr. Gross, and Mrs. Nyland.

September Finds Busy Faculty and Students

The first day of school was full of hustle and bustle — the bang-up assembly, the paying of fees, seeing familiar faces, and the making of new friends. How well we remember when we received our schedules. The incoming freshmen wandered aimlessly around, trying to find their rooms. The deans' offices were packed with students trying to change their schedules. Yes, the joys of coming back to school are ones we will never forget.

"Through the Years" Homecoming

Sandy Quammen, Miss Flame, lights the traditional homecoming bonfire, assisted by Ted White.

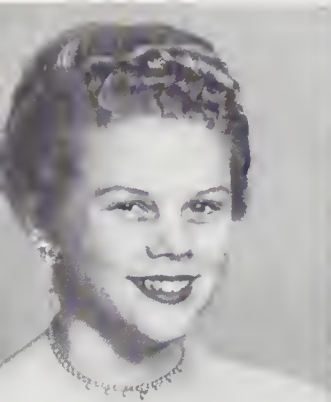

An extended agenda featuring competitive pep assemblies and downtown window displays made this year's homecoming unforgettable.

A new point system was introduced as the judging criteria for the homecoming trophy.

Co-operation, ingenuity, and all-over effort were contributing factors to the 1958 homecoming. From the first meeting of the planning committee to the award of the homecoming trophy, each class worked with determination to make homecoming a complete success.

Theme

Seated with her court of royal princesses and their escorts in the school auditorium, Queen Karen Petersen graciously presides over the 1959 homecoming festivities.

Tri-captains, Gregg, Paaso, and Olson break through the paper in preparation for more sturdy opposition.

Senior Ball

Setting a precedent for future Senior Balls, the Class of '59 named a queen and court to rule over the January Ball. Named the "Littlest Angel" was queen Julie Hoare. Her princesses were Darle Hoagland, Mary Jane Kuratli, Bridget Leigh, and Joyce Wilson. The cafeteria was transformed into a pink heaven by the theme, "Stairway to the Stars."

Stereophonic music, introduced for the first time at an AHS dance, proved quite popular with the dancers.

Many couples enjoyed the beautiful decorations of stars and pink clouds at this year's Senior ball.

Junior Prom

The "Birth of the Blues" was re-enacted most artfully at the Junior Prom this May. The complete transformation of the cafeteria to — that "Mean" Street — that "Blues" Street — was done by using blue notes, life-sized jazz players, music staffs, and authentic murals of Basin Street. Original ideas were used to create new magic. The staccato of the syncopated blues rhythm came when Queen Susan Morrow was crowned to reign as special royalty over this night. She, as well as her princesses, Jan Isaacson, Millie Hartstrom, Jocelyn Maddox, and Marilyn Morfitt, was chosen by junior classmates, not only for beauty but for doing the most outstanding work for the class.

Students shall always remember their particularly "blue" night of the year — the real "Birth of the Blues."

Queen Susan Morrow

It certainly wasn't a "blue note" for Queen Susan when she was crowned by class president, Bryan Thom.

Soph Hop

On the night of May 1, the Sophomore class changed the everyday appearance of the AHS cafeteria into a colorful, enchanting "Land of Oz."

Story-book characters filled the room where students danced to records and were entertained by three sophomore groups; a combo, a vocal group, and a dance team.

This dance marked the beginning of a whirl of spring dances at Astoria High.

Sophomores Diane Siddall, Laurie Romick, Sharon Kubik, Helen Nygaard, Faith Mattila, Judy Sagen, and Harriet Larson give dance decorations the once-over.

In a "Wizard of Oz" motif, juniors Joy Thomas and Jerry Paulsen dance to a popular record. Sandy Davenport and Jon Hissner, freshmen, also enjoy the school-wide Sophomore Hop.

Frosh

Frolic

Murals depicting scenes from Apple Blossom Farm decorated the cafeteria on May 15, when the Frosh put on their annual Frolic.

The entertainment was lavish, with Terri Collins rendering the song, "May You Always"; the Frosh Triple Trio singing "I'll Be With You in Apple Blossom Time," and "Oklahoma"; and the Frosh Jazz Dancers — Judie Maddox, Peggy O'Neil, Shirley Romsos, and Kathy Samuelson — doing a routine to the record "The Battle of New Orleans."

Costume hats, sold by the freshmen, added that Mardi Gras touch to the dance scene.

Freshman advisers, Mr. Phillips and Miss Friedrich, turn salesmen.

Couples enjoy the informal spring dance.

A one-act play festival hi-lighted the year. These Forensic Club members presented "Highness."

How to age forty years in fifteen minutes is demonstrated by Miss Allen as she makes up John Milde for the senior play.

"May I ask a question?" innocently queried Mrs. Laura Partridge, (Mary Jane Kuratli) at a stockholders' meeting of General Products Corporation in which she owned all of ten shares. With that, the "Solid Gold Cadillac," senior play, shifted into high gear and started on its merry way. Before the "journey" ended, a tickled audience had been exposed to the comical side of straight-laced Big Business. In her womanly way, Mrs. Partridge had neatly revolutionized the public relations department of General Products, aided a romance between her loyal secretary, (Barbara Knutsen), and Jenkins (Dennis Thiel), calmed a harassed McKeever (John Milde), and completely upset the complacent Board of Directors of the corporation. Under the coaching of Miss Allen, and backed by properties people, the student actors gave a nice performance.

Seniors Present Wall Street Comedy

Portraying characters in "The Solid Gold Cadillac" are members of the senior play cast: J. Russell, T. Baumgardner, A. Weller, J. Storaasli, D. Floyd, R. Wright, B. Holton,

M. Kuratli, J. Milde, C. Greenberg, H. Snow, J. Steinbock, B. Knutsen, D. Thiel, K. Hubbell, and M. Jensen.

Junior Play Merits Many Laughs

Posed on stage during the first dress rehearsal are the junior play cast members: D. Smith, M. Morfitt, C. Johnson, L. Efaw, B. Page, J. Thomas, J. Maddox, D. Caughey, V.

Hendricks, D. Towne, J. Isaacson, C. Rogers, K. Mellin, and T. White.

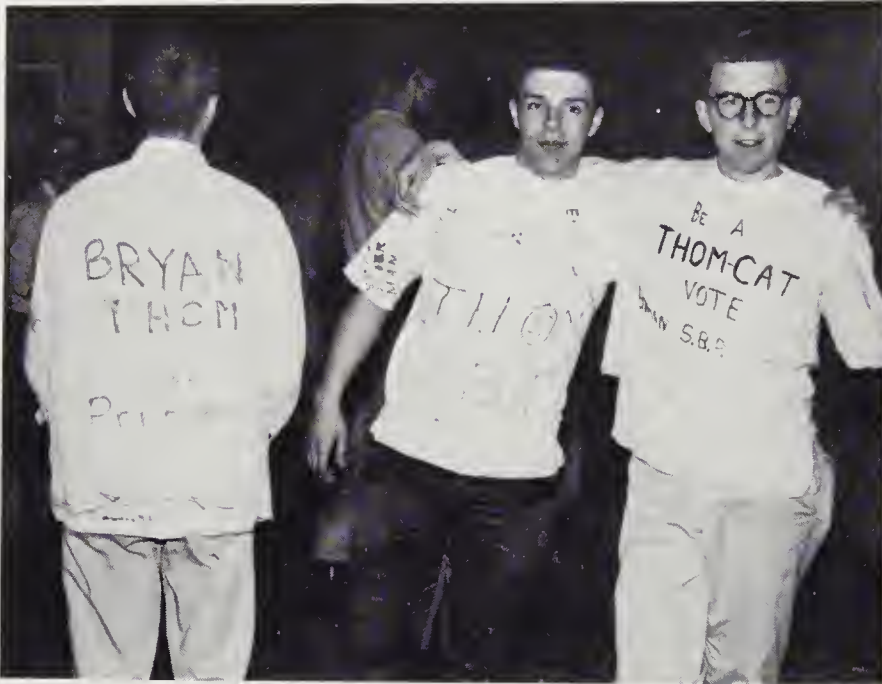

"You Can't Take It With You" a sparkling comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, came to life, April 13 and 14, when it was produced by the junior class under the direction of Mr. William Reuter. Comedy was supplied by Byron Page, Joy Thomas, and other supporting roles. Romantic interest was added by Ted White and Karen Mellin. The plot concerns the adventures of a zany family who have a refreshing attitude toward life, to the despair of the Internal Revenue Department and the horror of the Kirbys, a rich family in New York.

With Mrs. Ryavec in charge of publicity and tickets, the junior play was an amusing and money-making venture for the class of 1960.

Grandpa Vanderhoff, played by Clayton Johnson, offers grace during a dinner scene.

Teenagers Take Election of Their

It's not a riot — not a strike — it's only the typical zany antics of AHS'ers during election week. Here, John Hubbell, John Kallio, and James Baldwin advertise their candidate for president.

"Student elections are a firm background for the future, when we, as adults, will make the policies of America," said Jeff Stangland in his winning campaign speech.

"Don't be a shmoe, vote for Joe." Imaginative, industrious work, plenty of paint, and pain went into the posters that plastered every nook and cranny in Astoria High School.

Student Body Officers Seriously

The 1959 elections are over now; but the memory of the frenzied fun of putting up campaign posters, the 3-minute speeches given by the candidates in the auditorium, and most important, the serious note of teenagers earnestly trying to achieve maturity through careful selection of student leaders, remain with us as indelible memories. Remember the suspense of 7th period Friday, when finally a voice boomed over the P.A. loudspeaker: "Your new student body officers are: Jeff Stangland, president; Laddie Malen, 1st Vice; Mike Josephson, 2nd Vice; Pat Jensen, 3rd Vice; Millie Hartstrom, secretary; and Susan Morrow, treasurer. Rally members will be Judy Simonson, Jan Rom-sos, Jane Morfitt, Paul Berg, and Gary Wood. Pepsters are: Sonja Norgaard, Jan Isaacson, Jocelyn Maddox, Sandy Richardson, Judy Benson, Cheryl Westman, Kathi Rova, and alternate, Linda Taival."

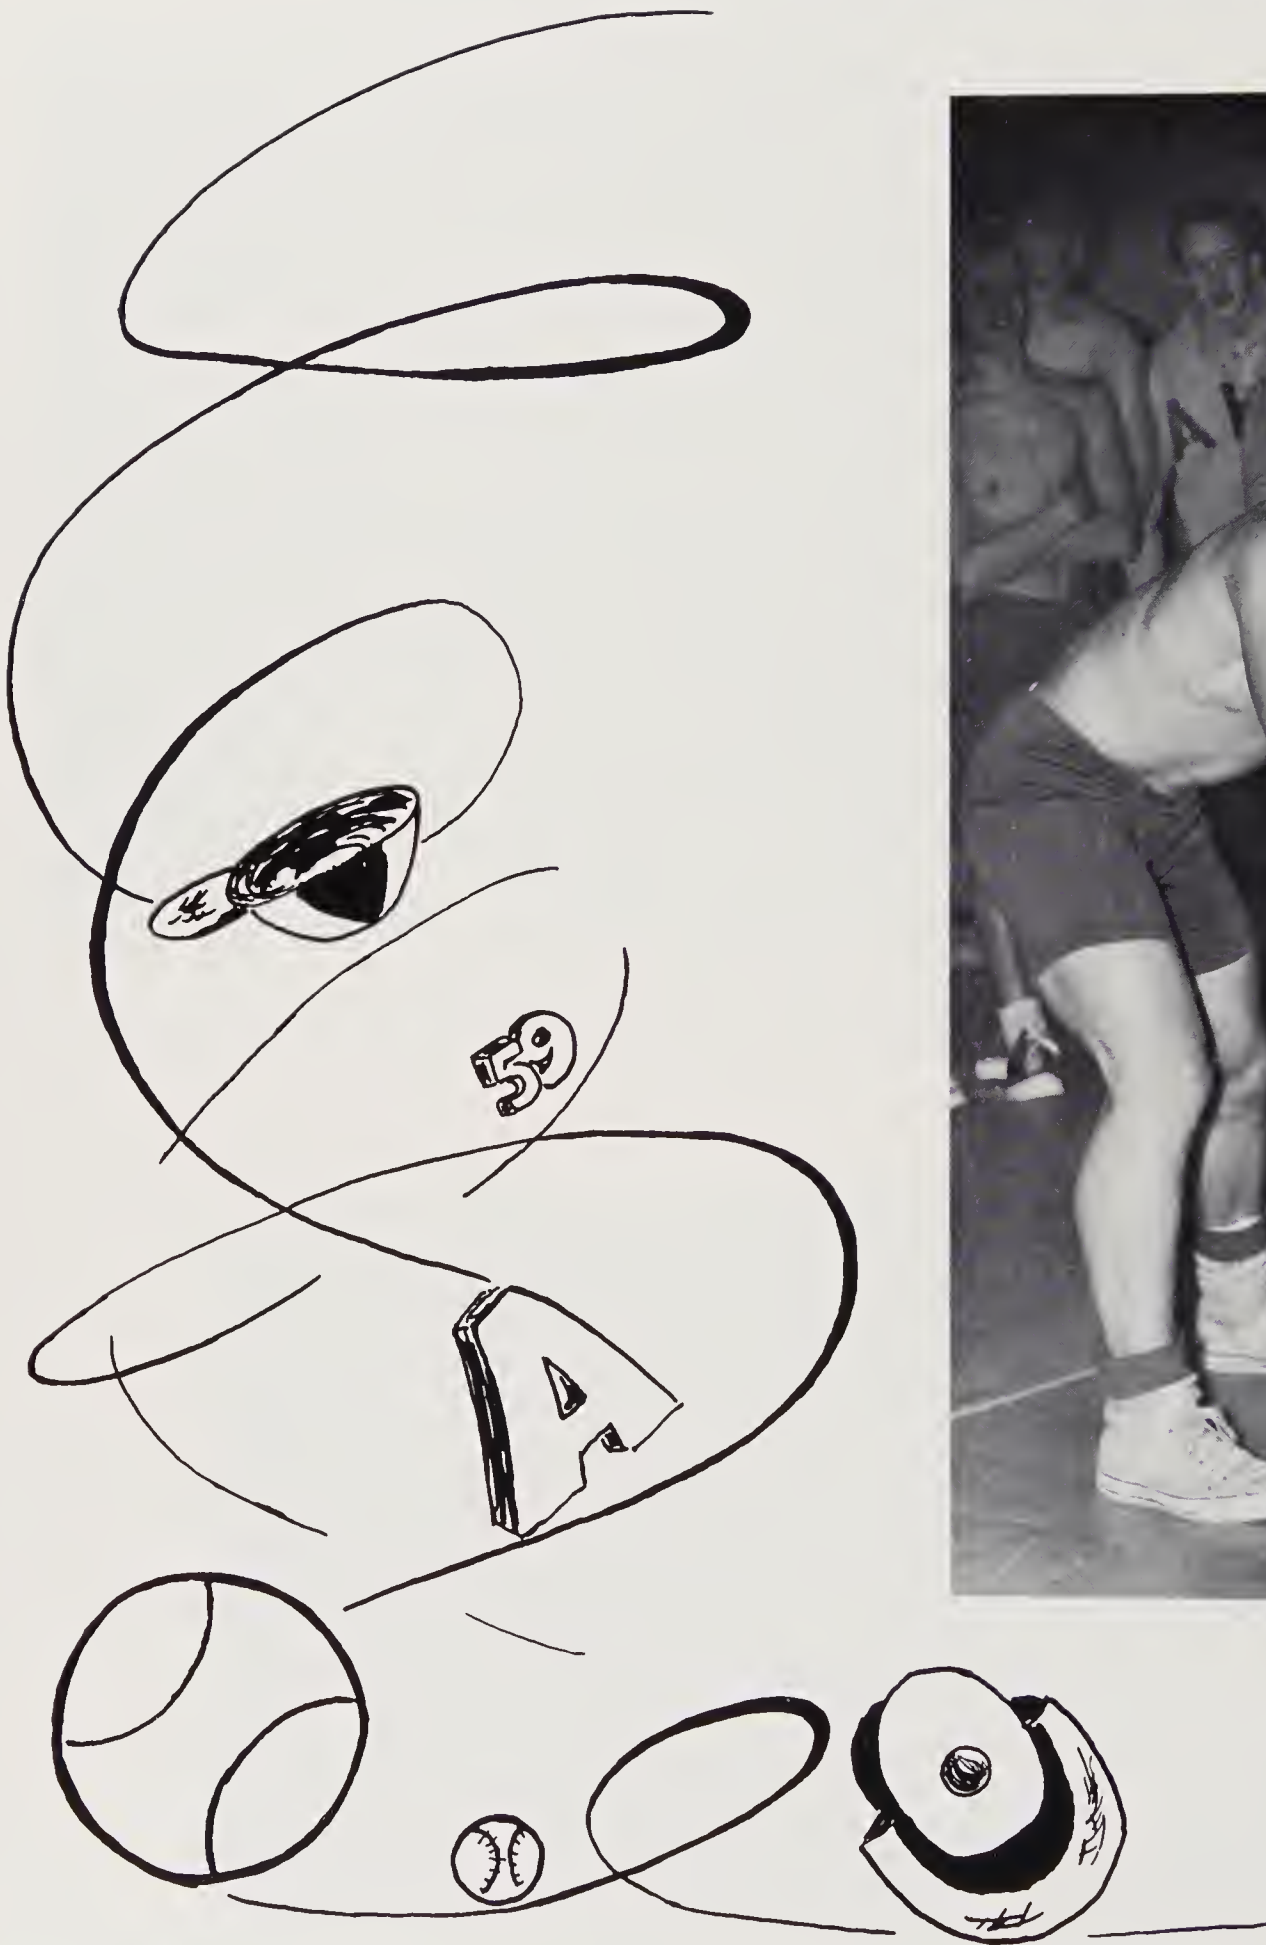

The task of voting appears to be a pleasant one, bringing smiles to the lips of voter Dave Paup and ballot-box officials Barbara Knutsen and Karen Peterson.

Performing their long-practiced routine before the student voters are Susan Hutchens and Eda Burns, pepster candidates.

ATHLETICS

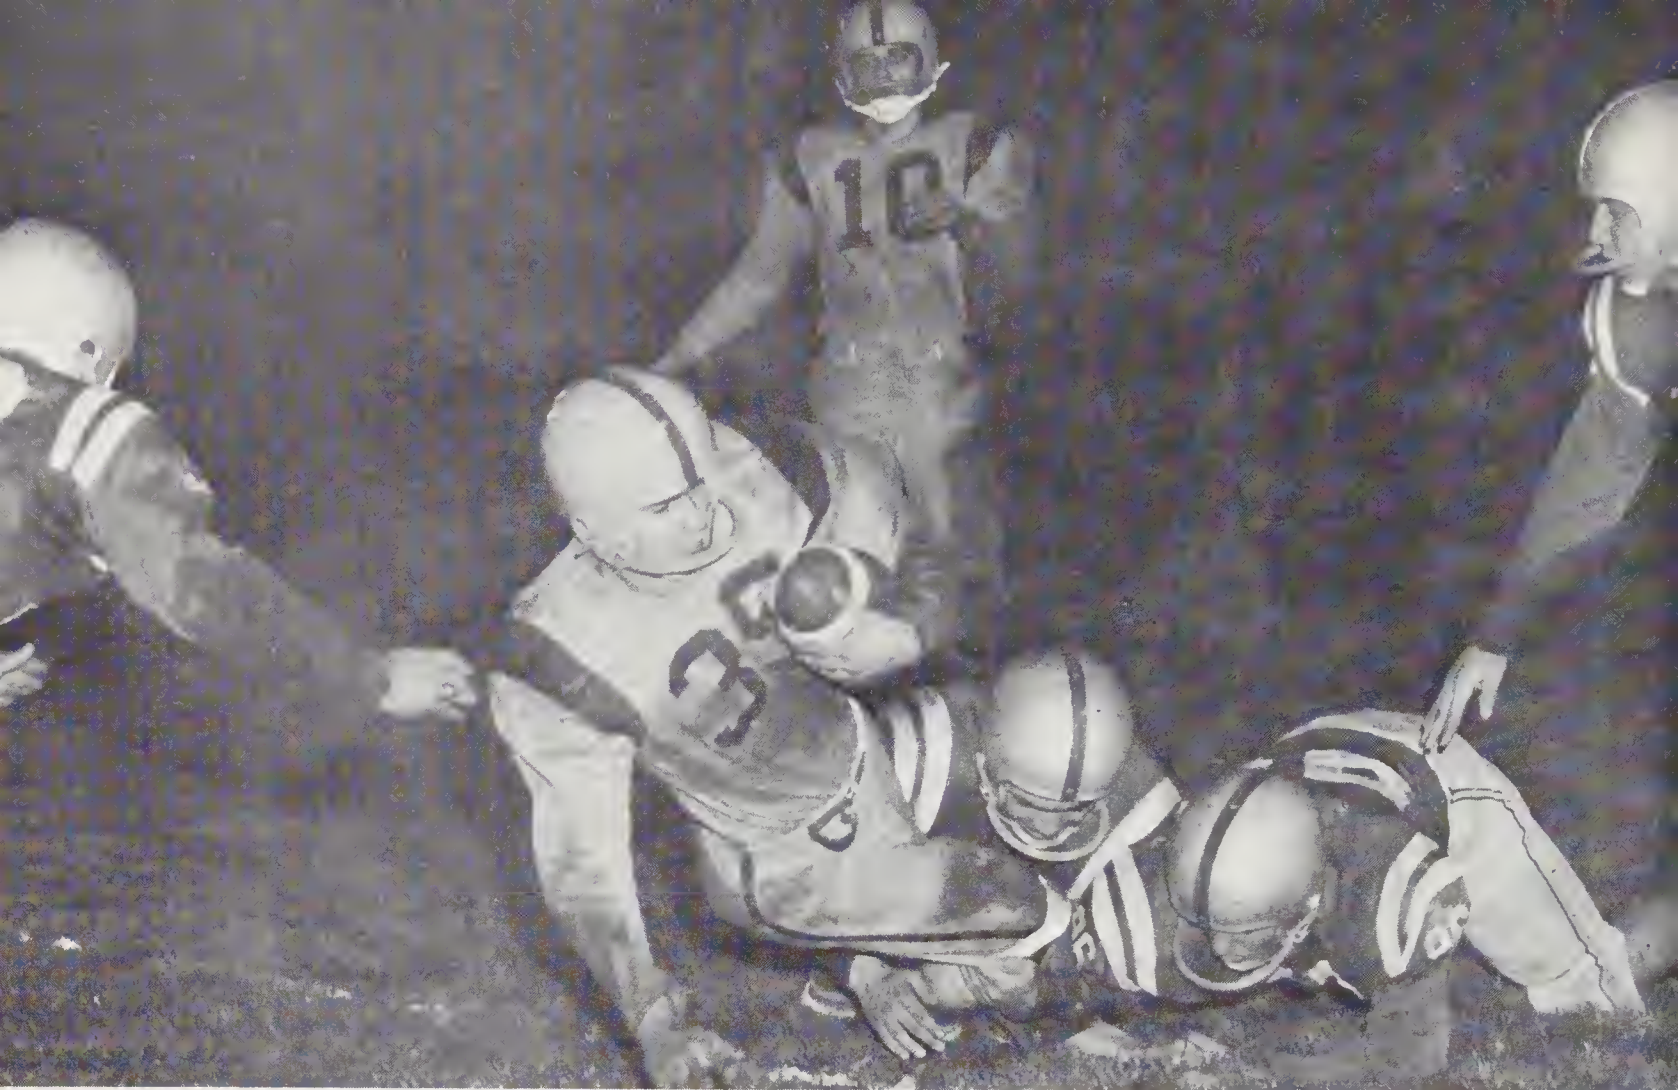

Breathlessly the crowd waited as wrappings were torn away from the glimmering object. With a wild round of applause, the Astoria High student body welcomed its newest trophy.

Crystallized in the glittering trophy is all that went into the season; the work of the team, the screams of the rooters, and the calls of the referees.

But athletics at AHS are not measured merely by trophies. The sportsmanship shown on the field or on the floor has an effect on both the team and the student body. Pride is found in the heart of each and every sports participant as he throws the discus, goes in for a basket, plows through for the touchdown, or prays for a homer.

Sports are another contributing factor to the Fighting Fisherman Spirit.

Olson clings to pigskin while being tackled by two David Douglas players.

Fishermen Net Metro Trophy

Quickly recovering from the shaky start against Springfield, Astoria's varsity whirled through the season in a gale of triumphs which led to the Metro League trophy. Then on a frost-bitten gridiron, the string of victories bringing us to the state semi-finals suddenly snapped. Even this disappointing loss, however, could not hold down the spirit of triumph. Much of the credit for this year's brilliant football season was earned by our new coach, Mr. Peter Bryant. Grabbing the Metro Trophy was by no means a pushover. Plenty of tough opposition was found along the road that led to state playoffs. The ability of Pete Bryant to train the team in the use of a new offensive play, the single wing, and go on to take the trophy in his first year, is a tremendous show of coaching talent.

Coach and player take time out for repairs.

After the first loss at Springfield the Fishermen picked up speed and rolled over Newport, Clackamas, Milwaukee, David Douglas, and Beaverton. Hillsboro, tied previously with us for first place, contributed to the happiness of homecoming by crumbling before the mighty Fishermen offense. With the win over Central Catholic, the Fishermen held a one game lead over Gresham. The final Astoria-Gresham game was a tie, leaving the Fishermen to compete with West Linn in the semi-finals.

This game spelled tragedy to the invading Finns. After the exciting contest, the Fishermen fell in defeat, six points short of victory.

To the men of Astoria many honors came. The all-star Metro team included five Astorians on the starting eleven. Seniors are Dick Gregg, Jerry Olson, Ron Osmus, Brian Paaso, and Gordon Scott. Junior, Larry Hill nailed down a spot on the defensive team. Gordon Scott was later picked as first string end on the all-state team. Football in '58 was a colorful addition to AHS football tradition.

J. V., Frosh Compete Successfully

With a new single-wing play going into use this year, Mr. Mosby and his junior varsity came out with a record of five wins and one loss. The loss was against Gaston, one of the top B schools in the state. According to Coach Mosby, the junior varsity team has seasoned a lot this year and will do well next season as varsity players. They have high hopes for another trophy.

Record-wise the frosh were skunked this season; but the valuable experience gained in playing high school ball was well worth the effort. The first string was side-lined most of the season with sickness and injuries but all got a chance to play. Judging from the participation in frosh football there should be a large turnout for junior varsity football next year.

Scoring points against Milwaukee, "Boochie" leaps high for a lay-in.

Three Fishermen, Mike Tarabochia, Gordon Scott, and James Johnson, nailed down spots on the Metro all-star team. These honors combined with the previous victories fanned the flame that swept Astoria down to the final pageant of the basketball season, the State Tournament.

At the Basketball Awards assembly, senior, Dick Seppa, was honored as the inspirational player.

Coach Jerry Mosby successfully steered the high-flying Finns to another Metro-League Championship, his second trophy in three years as head basketball coach in Astoria. While building up his team's reputation for speed and precision, he has compiled a record to be envied.

Astoria

R. Neimi, assistant manager; L. Malen, manager; R. Osmus, trainer, and J. Utti, statistition; are shown keeping score, which is one of their many behind-the-scene duties.

Helping to bring home another Metro Basketball trophy were: B. Hoffman, L. Hill, J. Wagner, M. Tarabochia, D.

Hellberg, G. Scott, J. Johnson, T. Graves, B. Paaso, D. Seppa, and J. Olson.

Takes 2nd Straight Metro Trophy

Astoria's hopes for a state championship burned high during the basketball season. The flame of victory blazed through twenty-one games with only one loss cooling the hopes of Fisherman Fans.

As repeating pace setters in the Metro League, considered one of the toughest leagues in the state this year, the Fighting Finns marched away with another 1st place decoration for our trophy case. By virtue of a 13—1 league record, Astoria climbed to the top in statewide polls.

Skill and spirit were evident in the Fisherman squad from the very first game. After winning pre-season games against Kelso, Centralia, Springfield, and Marshfield, the Finns began plowing through tough Metro opposition. An easy win over Clackamas was followed by an upsetting loss to Milwaukee. Wins over Beaverton, Hillsboro, David Douglas, Gresham, and Central Catholic followed. In the second round of play all opposition was crushed as the Fishermen hit their prime.

Play Ball

The Centralia game begins as Captain Gordon Scott goes up for the jump shot.

Scott sinks one from the side in the Marshfield game.

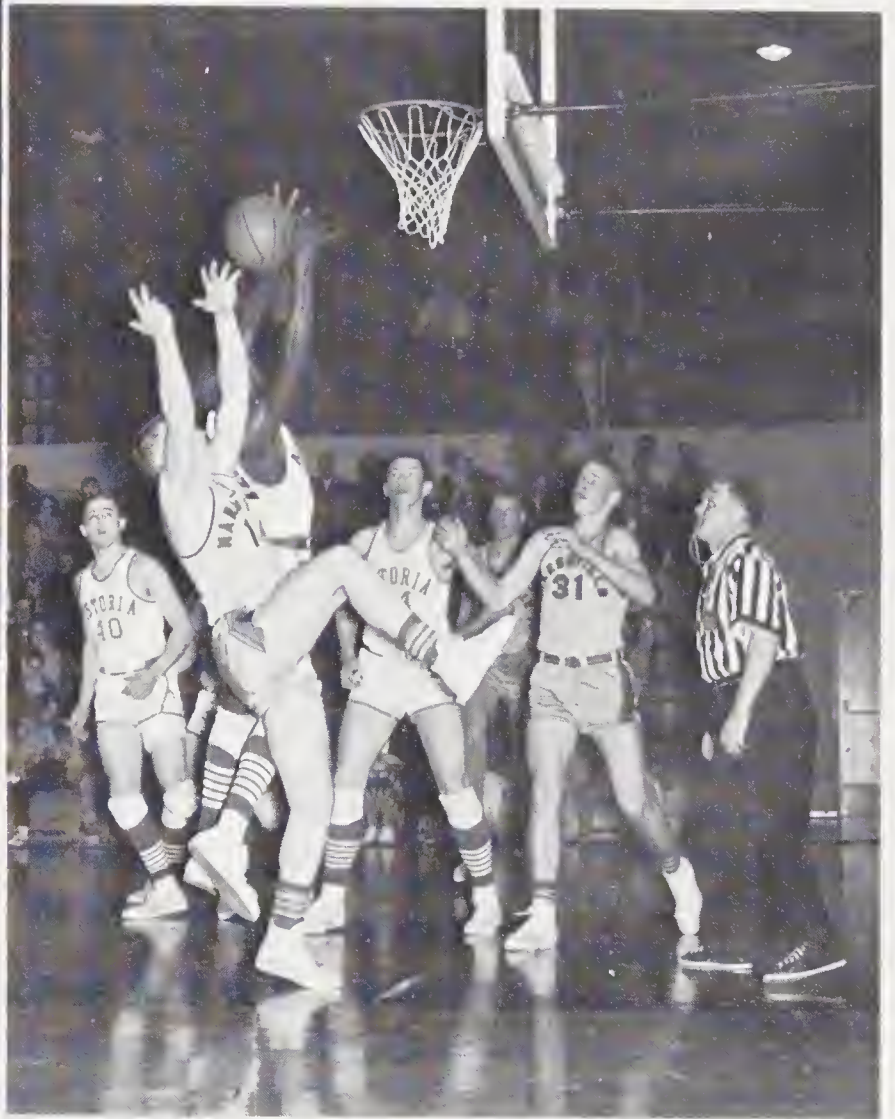

Astoria's top three rebounders, Johnson, Hellberg, and Scott reach for the ball as it falls from the boards in the Hillsboro game.

Driving in for a lay-in is senior guard, Mike Tarabochia.

Fighting Fishermen Trophy Seekers

James Johnson goes high for a rebound as Paaso and Scott wait for action.

At the State Tournament a torrential downpour of bad breaks, pressure, and tough opposition smothered the flame. In a tight battle K. Falls demonstrated the prowess that took them to the quarter finals by eeking out a one point edge over the Finns. This disappointment was followed by another one point defeat to Jefferson. It is hoped that the small spark remaining from the flame of victory may once again explode into an opponent-consuming blaze.

School Supports Team

The perennial pilgrimage to Eugene, the Mecca of basketball enthusiasts, brought with it the thrills, excitement, and tension that always accompanies State Tournament. Trophies are awarded also for spirit and sportsmanship. The odds are high but so are the stakes.

The kickoff assembly at AHS saw a large representative group of supporters including the band, fisherettes, rally squad, and students, leave for Eugene in high spirits to win the coveted awards. Although sportsmanship and a clean slate went unrewarded, hopes for the future burn high.

J. V. and Frosh Teams Triumph

This year the J.V. team, guided by their new coach, Pete Bryant, captured a tie for first place in the Metro Junior Varsity League. Their league record was 11 wins and 3 losses. The J.V.'s provided thrilling preliminary matches before the main games and most important, gained that needed experience for next years Varsity team.

The Frosh basketball squad supervised by Doug Clark, was divided into two teams this year, giving more boys a chance to participate. Mr. Clark coached the first team and Astoria High Senior, Ron Osmus, coached the second team. The first team compiled a record of 11 wins and 11 losses, while the second team was undefeated.

"Little Fishermen" who saw court action were J. Hill, B. Lempea, D. Palmberg, K. Husby, D. Schalk, M. Bigby, M. Sorkki, G. Fleck, P. Clark, P. Jensen, S. Craig, J. Pilgreen, R. Larsen, D. Clark, coach; T. Thompson, R. Barr, F. Johnson, E. Fisher, F. Martin, and B. Lempea.

Wrestling Enters Sports Slate

First-year participants in AHS wrestling were: J. Wilkey, A. L'Amie, M. Dunaway, D. Crusel, R. Biddle, R. Johnson, B. Hauke, J. Lovell. SECOND ROW: G. Ellsworth, M. Koskela, D. Cheney, R. Basel, D. Durham, G. Wood, D. Thompson, Coach D. Phillips. THIRD ROW: R. Mathre, D. Swails, J. Paschall, J. Palmberg, R. Nichols, J. Peterson, D. Hansen, G. Chestnut, and manager R. Brown.

Another new extracurricular activity at Astoria High this year is wrestling, coached by Donovan Phillips, a teacher new to Astoria. There are both J.V. and Varsity teams. Wrestling offers a chance for boys too small to participate in basketball or football to earn a varsity letter in a school sport.

The wrestling team has been fre-lancing this year, challenging teams from this section of the state, to gain experience for next year's competition. Next year the school will enter both J.V. and varsity teams in the Metropolitan Wrestling League. But prospects are not too bright for an immediate winning season because it takes about three years to gain the needed experience to develop a good wrestling team.

Desire to win and quick coordination of mind and body are requisites for successful participation for wrestling success, according to Mr. Phillips.

Ronny Johnson pins Gary Wood in an exhibition before the squad.

Runners of the diamond at AHS in '59 are: FIRST ROW: R. Wright, J. Craig, J. Kallio, B. Thom, R. Osmus, B. Johansen, L. Hill, and B. Hoffman. SECOND ROW: Coach

Clark, B. Canessa, B. Wesche, L. Grey, G. Paulsen, D. Paup, B. Hughes, R. Williams, and their manager, R. Brown.

Fishermen Capture Fourth Place

Although beating league-leading Beaverton and Milwaukie, the Astoria varsity baseball team captured only fourth place in the Western Division of the Metropolitan League this spring. The team was hampered by the usual bad weather and playing inexperience. The majority of the players were sophomores and juniors, with only a few seniors.

The league record was two wins and seven losses, and the season record, seven wins and seven losses.

Ron Osmus, chosen most inspirational by his teammates, exhibits his batting strength.

Cross Country and Track Teams

James Johnson clears the hurdles during spring activity at Gyro.

Nine wins and no losses in dual meets made an impressive record for Astoria's cross-country team in its first year. Training under coach Jerry Mosby, the team ran five miles a day, rain or shine, to be ready for their races. They came in second at the Metro League championship run and sixteenth out of a field of thirty teams in the state meet.

Next year promises to be another successful year as Astoria's junior varsity cross-country team was undefeated in dual meets and won the district J.V. title. They came in tenth out of a field of twenty-seven teams in the state Junior Varsity meet.

Running under the watchful eye of Mr. Mosby are D. Northcraft, B. Allen, A. Holton, B. Olsen, J. Smith, G. Graves, T. Graves, V. Pinson, G. Oja, B. Smith, P. Soderman, and B. Holton.

Compile Impressive Records

The Astoria High School track team compiled an outstanding record under the guidance of coach, Eugene Lukoszyk, this spring. The cindermen made many records to be proud of in meets with David Douglas, Gresham, Sunset, Hillsboro, and other league teams.

They lacked field strength, but proved their speed on the track by taking second in the 880-yard relay and fifth in the 440-yard relay at the Hayward Relays in Eugene.

Although hindered by lack of facilities and a track, they overcame these obstacles at the District meet held at Lewis and Clark College on May 14, when Brian Paaso won the 440-yard dash and the 880-yard relay team placed second. This qualified them to compete in the state track meet.

A large turnout of underclassmen should mean another successful year for the track team.

Members of the Astoria High track team are: D. Hellberg, D. McCrum, M. Allen, G. Chestnut, A. Holton, J. Olson, J. Smith, B. Holton, B. Allen, R. Hauke, and Coach Lukoszyk. SECOND ROW: J. Johnson, A. Moberg, B. Paaso, J. Moberg, G. Scott, H. Clarke, G. Fleck, R. Larson, R. Kelm, and D. Swailes.

Intramural Basketball

Laine's mechanics sponsored by Laine's Autoworks came out on top this year in the intramural basketball league with a 6 and 1 record.

The league is made up of eight different teams who play every Saturday morning, and is organized for boys who like to play basketball but are not quite good enough to make the regular teams.

Mr. Mosby, who was coordinator for the activities, did a fine job of teaching the boys sportsmanship, and how to play better ball.

Members of the Intramural Championship Basketball team are: J. Laine, M. Trout, R. Truman, L. Laine, J. Ducich, B. Ducich, B. Olson, G. Marincovich.

Fisherman golfers whacked their way through another active and tough schedule. From the tee to the green, sportsmanship was stressed. Meets with Metro opponents and local competition combined to keep AHS golfers busy.

Team compiled a 1 win — 5 losses — 1 tie record. Against Metro competition, this is a good showing for a new sport at Astoria High School.

Holding the positions of golf team co-captains are two girls, Barbara Knutsen and Carole Hendrickson.

ORGANIZATIONS

Whipped along by a business-like breeze, Astoria High's clubs sped through the school year to make it interesting and active. The activities ran the gamut from spectacular dances to making Christmas baskets for the less fortunate. Homecoming came and brought with it a new way for clubs to use their ingenuity by decorating the windows of the downtown merchants. Finally, after a fun-filled year, the breezes brought the sounds of slamming doors as students shouted, "School's out!" and another year drew to a close.

When each girl new to AHS was teamed up with a veteran senior or junior girl at the traditional Big and Little Sister party, the fall agenda of the Girls' League was off to a good start. Several contests held by the Girls' League gave her members the chance to compete for awards and serve at the same time. For the first time, AHS girls officially participated in the SEVENTEEN Doll Contest. The annual cooked food sales held by the four classes netted $200.00 which was presented to a worthy senior girl as a scholarship from the league.

Girls' League sponsored and planned Christmas and Easter programs and a talent show. Special speakers filled in the club's activities all of which were designed to make fine AHS girls even better.

Adds Interest

As the school year rolled by, the Girls' League chose a characteristic trait to represent each month and picked the girl who most personified that quality. These nine girls received silver pendants engraved with their names, the month, and the character trait for which they were outstanding.

Booster Boys

Zephyrus Staff

Mrs. Christensen, Susan Amundsen, Jean Ostrom, Jeanne Sporre, Joy Thomas, and Mr. Mueller held positions on the staff as executives. To them belonged the responsibilities of planning and financing the publication. As its leaders, they set standards of excellence for the rest of the staff.

Through their work on the Zephyrus, Kristina Pernu, Sandra Quammen, John Fremstad, Dana Scott, Pat Hannu, and Charles Rogers exercised their talents in the literary vein. Copy writers strove to record AHS history, as class editors dealt with their particular problems. The typist busied herself preparing copy for the printer. As a team the staff dealt skillfully with their stock-in-trade — words.

Astor Post

Members who reach top positions in the AP "hierarchy" can be found in just such a scene of bustling activity during journalism class and very often after school.

Enjoying a discussion of an edition of the Astor Post are members of the staff and their adviser. AP members are M. Christensen, J. Siegmund, S. Clark, M. Viuhkola, S. Quammen, R. Nyback, A. Altheide, D. Hoagland. SECOND

Students, who have worked on either the Astor Post or the Zephyrus, with outstanding contributions are eligible for membership in this international journalism honorary. They must submit a sample of their work to the national secretary for approval before they can be elected.

Many distinguished journalists in the country are numbered among the honorary or life members of Quill and Scroll.

Mu Alpha Theta

Mu Alpha's inducted new members at an impressive public ceremony this spring. Despite its Greek name, this organization is not a fraternity or sorority. It is an honorary club whose academically-inclined members have earned a 3.00 overall grade point average and a B+ or better in higher math. Students of higher math, club members designed their activities with a purpose in mind. Subscribing to a specialized journal, solving weekly puzzle problems in connection with their classes, and taking a trip to further their understanding about new math education methods broadened mathematical horizons in a most interesting way.

For the first time, Mrs. Jensen and Mr. Reuter served the organization as co-advisers this year.

National Honor Society

Character, scholarship, leadership, and service are the principles upon which the National Honor Society is based. The method of selection consists of submitting to the entire faculty a list of the students who are scholastically in the upper fourth of the class. The teachers vote for those students they think are qualified to be members of the Society. Only 8% of the junior class and 12½% of the senior class may be admitted each year, so the deserving members who are accepted can be proud of their accomplishment.

Junior Honor Society

Membership in the National Junior Honor Society is bestowed upon freshmen and sophomores who have qualified for this club in the following ways: scholastically, candidates must be in the top third of their class. From this group are chosen students who possess the spirit of leadership so necessary today, and who are willing to shoulder responsibilities. Too, they must have the best of character.

Those who are accepted are given a golden torch pin, the symbol of intellectual light. Membership in this organization is a high honor, for only the worthy are selected.

"Here's your pin! Congratulations." Public induction before proud parents and friends is a thrilling moment for all.

Forensic Club

"I have more confidence in my speaking ability as a result of taking speech," said one student. But it might well have been the statement of any member of the Forensic Club.

Practicing their skill at speech tournaments and school programs and taking part in the plays, "Highness," "Three Cents A Day," and "Albuquerque, 10 Minutes" have kept Forensic members busy.

Among their projects this year were gathering Christmas clothing and food for needy families, and caroling in the hospitals.

Despite all this activity, members of the Forensic Club still manage to find energy enough to keep talking.

World Problems Interest I. R. L.

In a world where distances seem to shrink each year and where our neighbors half way around the globe are now our concern, understanding international relations is most important. IRL is composed of sophomore and junior history students who are interested in becoming better acquainted with national and international problems and affairs.

Kent Kramer, president, Don Caughey and Carolyn Hansen were representatives to the model United Nations Conference in Eugene. Here they met with other students from Oregon for round table discussions of various world affairs. Carolyn Hansen was elected secretary of one round table group at the conference.

One of the first-place winners for Homecoming displays was the International Relations League.

International-minded students comprising IRL include: C. Hanson, D. Caughey, M. Hartstrom, K. Kramer, N. Stenblom, and Miss Crouter, adviser. SECOND ROW: R. Ny-

With funds earned by taking pictures for school publications the club purchased two new cameras for the Photography Department. With these they took pictures of students at the school dances. They also sponsored the National Eastman Kodak Photo Contest.

"Although the membership is not so large as in the past, this year's science club has abounded in enthusiasm."

Making and selling Christmas wreaths was their first project. It was followed by a host of others, such as securing an attractive planter for the administration building and decorating the turn-around.

It's easy to see why a member of the science club in 1958-59 when asked, "How are you?" would answer, "Busy!"

Annually, the Science Fair is a high light in the Science Club program. George Oja shows Mr. Gross his entry.

Models wait their turn to show AHS girls a glimpse of high fashion.

As a result of regular after-school cabinet meetings, new and varied activities were constantly in store for this year's F.H.A. members.

Money-making projects included various sales and a car wash.

Most remembered in their calendar of events was the May Day fashion show which heralded the official opening of the cotton season at AHS.

Teaching a Career, Aim of F. T. A.

With the idealistic goals of teacherhood in mind, the Future Teachers of America enjoyed a rewarding year of activities at Astoria High School. The students, headed by Mrs. Evelyn Egan, gained valuable knowledge of teaching techniques by viewing educational films.

Getting into the swing of homecoming, the FTA club welcomed alums with a downtown window display.

Pepsters

Enthusiastic, responsible, and peppy, were the seven snappy pepsters in '58-'59. Clad in outfits of purple and gold, they added color and excitement to the games and pep assemblies. For what are they remembered? A-S-T-O-R-I-A, dance routines, The Blob, hats and canes, eye-catching pom poms. Their hoarse voices were common evidence they had "given it all they had," setting a high standard of school spirit and service.

School Spirit

If Astoria is to win games, the hooper and gridiron squads must make scores, but the rally squad has its responsibility too — that of stimulating the cheering section to support the teams with yells and chants. Rally Queen, Karen Petersen has been assisted in this job by Karen Mellin and Judy Simonson. It is through their efforts that the fighting spirit of AHS has been kept at a high peak all year long.

Trim in white pleated skirts and gold-trimmed sweaters, they used short, snappy yells, pom poms, signs, and the pep jug as the "tools of their trade."

Our three cheerleaders — Karen Mellin, Judy Simonson, Karen Petersen did their best to create sportsmanship-like spirit at AHS.

J. V. Rally

Yelling their team on to victory as Junior Varsity Metro Champs, the J.V. rally squad supported the players at all preliminary games and traveled to the Saturday out-of-town games.

Practicing was done after school, polishing up new routines learned over the summer. The girls met quite often at 6:30 summer sessions on the YMCA tennis court.

Five strong, these girls include Jan Romsos, Sandy Richardson, JoAnn Snow, Jane Morfitt, and Judy Benson. These girls are quickly recognized by their white pleated skirts and dark V-neck sweaters.

Frosh Rally

Leading yells, as the Fingerlings sped on to a long list of victories, were the freshman rally. They are five girls: Kathy Samuelson, Judy Maddox, Nancy Beelar, Valarie Titus, and Shirley Romsos.

Chosen in the fall by their fellow classmates, the freshman rally quickly caught on to leading their class in a variety of yells and chants. One was the popular "Little Fisherman" chant composed for the homecoming festivities.

Fisherettes Perform Snappy Drills

Clad in purple-pleated skirts and gold crew-neck sweaters, thirty-six freshman and sophomore girls make up the Fisherettes. These girls were elected to the marching group in the eighth grade to perform for the Fighting Fishermen at home games during their freshman and sophomore years. These girls hold the position for two years only.

Highlight of their activities was the trip to state tournament. Fluffy new pompoms in the true fisherman colors — purple and gold — were ordered in time for the tourney.

The pompoms add variety to the Fisherettes' half-time routines.

Members of the Astoria High marching group are, FIRST ROW: D. Worthy, J. Priddy, M. Worthy, N. Lare, N. Blum, J. Cheney, M. Knutsen, S. Kubic. SECOND ROW: S. Lare, R. Connolly, P. Ulmer, J. Sagen, M. Fornas, E. Larson, T. Ryding, C. Morgan. THIRD ROW: B. Stevens,

Service Club

Probably giving the most service with the least credit at Astoria High is the Service Club which is composed of thirty junior and senior girls. Under the direction of Mrs. Esther Jensen and Mr. Norman Baesler, they have helped promote school spirit.

The girls sell refreshments at all home games, giving up their own privileges of being in the stands. Proceeds are given to the athletic fund and pay for an annual sports banquet which they sponsor.

Royalty at the Service Club-sponsored Sadie Hawkins dance were Marcia Fornas and Jim Browning.

"A" Club

The muscular wearers of the big "A" have been representing AHS not only on the gridiron, the hard court, the cinders, the diamond, and the green, but also as they keep sharp cleats and muddy galoshes off the gym floor during and after basketball games. They help by patrolling halls, collecting tickets and performing other necessary jobs for the school.

The major, underlying, cause of these "self-sacrificing" acts is aptly expressed by the oft-heard phrase, "Mark me down for two more merits, Olson." The much coveted "A" blanket is awarded each year to the high-point merit man. Regardless of their motives, we are glad they are fighting for us, not against us!

G. A. A. Wins Friendly Competition

"GAA brings home the district basketball trophy!" so the announcement read. But what a trophy — no loving cup, this — but who can eat a cup? These girls won a half bushel of peanuts by taking first place from all other GAA groups in Clatsop County.

The Girls' Athletic Association is organized to promote friendliness and participation in sports. They have play nights, practice on the trampoline, tumbling, and the regularly scheduled work-outs after school. It is through these activities that their major aims are fulfilled.

The popular activity, jumping on the trampoline, is demonstrated by Betty Winters.

Ever-active GAA girls are: FIRST ROW: N. Lare, B. Winters, S. Northcraft, M. Knutsen, S. Lare. SECOND ROW:

S. Davenport, H. Basel, P. Morrison, M. Worthy. THIRD ROW: J. Larson, M. Ranta, D. Buffum.

Students Lend a Hand at Office Chores

Office girls for this year were: FIRST ROW: J. Holt, K. Rova, H. Kuluris, and S. Hutchens. SECOND ROW: C. Hill, P. Reith, C. Johnson, J. Nordlund, S. Osterlund, M. Hartstrom, and B. Davis.

Specific office tasks are performed by Joyce Wilson, Mr. Boss' secretary; Shirley Clement, Jeanne Sporre, JoAnn Storaasli, Miss Upham's lieutenants; and Charlene Baldwin, Mr. Sorenson's secretary.

Typing letters, mimeographing stencils, answering telephones, delivering messages — all of these are included in the duties of the office girls and the Dean's lieutenants. They perform countless jobs for both teachers and the office secretaries. In addition to helping the office staff, the girls gained valued office experience. They have all taken one or more secretarial courses in high school.

French

The three French club presidents, Viki Wooldridge, Julie Hoare and Bill Canessa and Latin Club president, Bruce Wesche, confer over one of the fine points of the French language.

Besides learning the intricacies of the French language, French clubbers developed a greater appreciation for France and her culture by exploring French music, magazines, recipes, and art.

On the social side, the resourceful French Club put on a splashy Mardi Gras and entered in the homecoming window display competition.

The three class presidents of Le Circle Francais worked with Mrs. Petersen, adviser, to make the French Club a smoothly-running organization.

Latin Classes Organize Clubs

One hundred-seven scholars at Astoria High who are studying the Latin language this year, are also active members of the Latin Club. This number is the largest in AHS Latin Club history.

At a special ceremony novices were initiated into the organization by second year members. Another highlight in the year's program was the traditional Roman Banquet sponsored by the veteran members, at which foods prepared according to old Italian recipes were served.

These and other activities of the club were directed by officers Bruce Wesche, president; John Rosendale, vice-president; and Karen Peterson, secretary-treasurer. An instructor new to Astoria High this year, Mr. Carl Carlson, also served as adviser.

Library Staff

Student librarians, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Halderman, keep the library in an orderly manner and find time for additional club projects.

Joining in the activities of Homecoming, the club won first place for their "Welcome Home" window display.

Installation of all new members was done in November. A profit-making project took form in a "Mau-Mau" dance, and a book auction also helped to increase staff funds.

Pictured in a rare moment of inactivity is the Library staff: B. Paaso, D. Northcraft, D. Seppa, H. Snow, C. Thomason, B. Hoffman, D. Gregg, R. Adams. SECOND ROW: Miss Halderman, adviser; N. Student Store

The student store, under the business-like management of Ed Niemi and adviser, Mr. Baesler, is greatly appreciated by the high school students because they are so far from the shopping district. Paper, pencils, and other necessary supplies are sold by students who receive small wages out of this profit. Pictured are student salesmen G. Stokes, R. Hauke, J. Lum, E. Niemi, and adviser, Mr. Baesler.

The Distributive Education Club is one of Astoria High's newest organizations. The students get experience in the business world by attending school half a day and working downtown the other half.

The D.E. Club has contributed socially too, by putting on a school dance and attending a district D.E. meet in Portland. Exchanging ideas on salesmanship are: Susan McIntyre, Diana Mattson, Patti Rutan, Judy Nielson, Will Korff, and Mr. Richard Boss, instructor, seated. Standing are: Lawrence Fudge, John West, Jack Staehli, Mike Shaw, Bob Hendrickson, and Mr. Larry Eaton, state supervisor.

Fisherman's Log Staff

Looking over the results of their summer work on the Fisherman's Log are the members of the Log staff.

The annual student-published booklet is an informative handbook for the benefit of those students who are new to AHS.

The staff members are: Darle Hoagland, Joyce Wilson, JoAnn Storaasli, Karen Petersen, Conrad Thomason, editor; John Fremstad, Mary Jane Kuratli, and Julie Hoare.

P. A. Attendants

This group of AHS juniors and seniors set up the public address systems and adjust the lights for all assemblies, dances, and ball games. Another service is the reading of the daily announcements.

Astoria Hi Fresh Sing

The FRESHMAN TRIPLE TRIO, comprised of Judy Maddox, Linda Wilson, JoAnn Armstrong, Joan Mathre, Terri Collins, Cathy Haynes, Susan Hendrickson, Sandra Koskela, Julia Thompson, and pianist JoAnn Ranta are pictured in their neat-as-a-pin dark skirts and white blouses. They were seen in these costumes as they performed for the public in the Spring festival put on by the music department.

They ranked highly as a freshman group and have gained valuable experience which will help them earn positions in the mixed choir.

The FRESHMAN GIRLS' GLEE had a very successful year ending with an "excellent" rating at the Northwest Musical Contest. Those comprising the chorus are: FIRST ROW: P. Falleur, J. Armstrong, S. Donaly, S. Kumpulainen, J. Johanson, R. Hale, J. Mathre, S. Peterson, P. Kernes, J. Cure, D. Gerritz, N. Beelar. SECOND ROW: V. Titus, D. Worthy, S. Romppanen, S. Mittet,

The A CAPPELLA CHOIR, under the direction of Mr. William Melton, in their purple and gold robes, have impressively sung selections ranging from religious anthems to melodies from Broadway shows during the school year.

For Christmas, the fifty voices provided a special musical background for the Choric Drama of the Nativity presented by the speech department. The Spring Festival featured a medley of songs from the Roger's and Hammerstein's hit show "Oklahoma!"

High ratings were earned by the A Cappella group this year at regional contests in both Seaside and Gresham.

Excellence in Year's Work

The SEXTET members receiving a superior rating in the District Music Contest were JoAnn Storaasli, Judy Simonsen, Suzi Humphreys, Karen Sallila, Marilyn Morfitt, and Karen L. Petersen. Always ready to sing, this Sextet has become a popular vocal group with many organizations.

SAXOPHONE QUARTET members are Tom Colaiuta, Fletcher Johnson, Gloria Gustafson, and Judy Kaarle.

A typical morning in the band room finds one or all of the instrumental ensembles: Brass Sextet, Woodwind Quintet, Trombone, Saxophone, Clarinet, and two Trombone quartets working in the numerous practice rooms.

Astoria High School Band Rated

Band Prospers

"Music, music, music!" is the keynote of the Astoria High School band. Their director, Mr. Ted Marshall, and student director, Don Caughey skillfully guided the band through many harmonious adventures, including the District Music Meet, the All-City Band Concert, and the Spring Festival.

The high point of musical merit was achieved by Dennis Thiel, winner of the Arion award. This annual scholarship goes to the senior who has contributed most, music-wise, to the band. At the district meet, 10 out of the 18 ensembles which received superior ratings were Astorians. Mark Pollard, a sophomore, received a 1+ rating for his baritone solo.

The '58-59 school year is over; the 70-plus band members can now relax knowing they have represented AHS well.

CLARINET QUARTET members are John Kaakinen, Corrine Hansen, Ken Bock, and Janice Larson.

PERSONALITIES

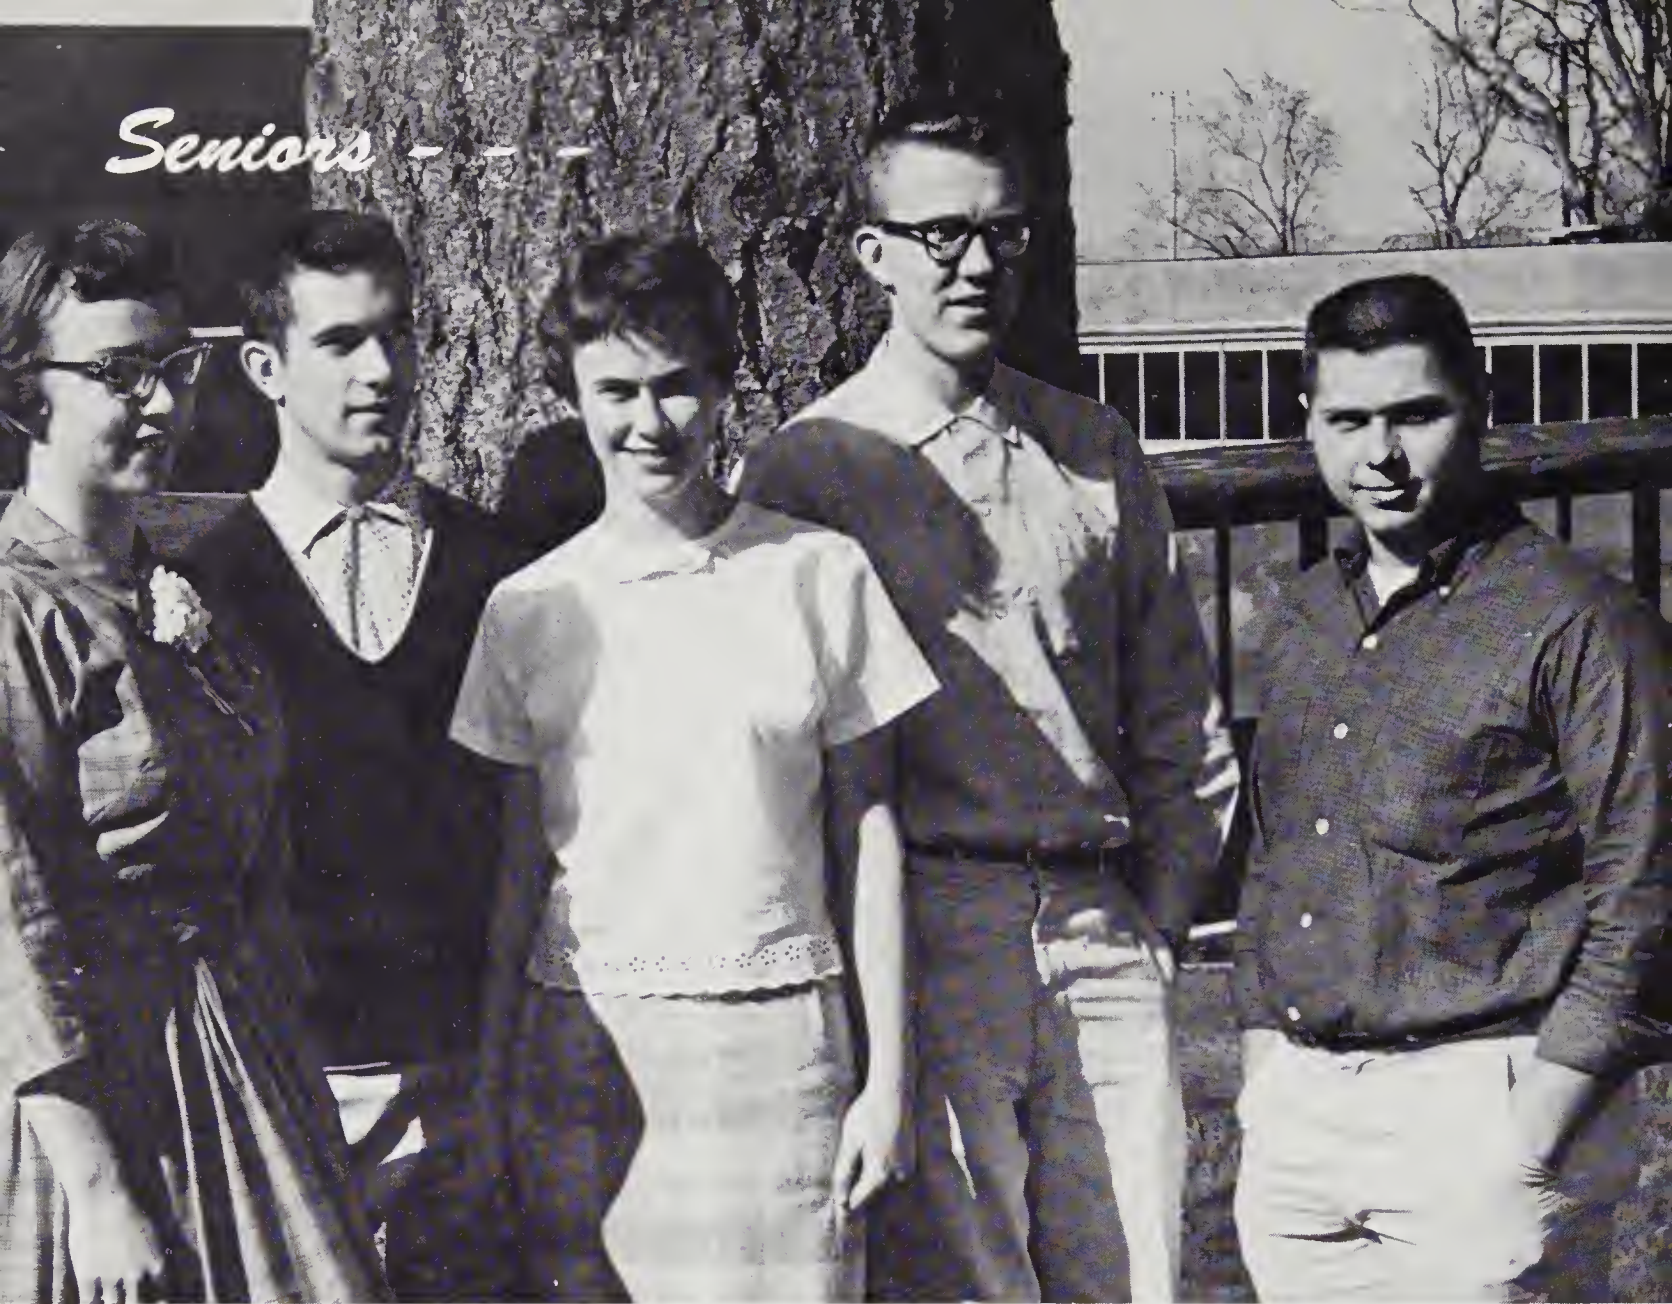

Breathing the very life into Astoria High are its personalities. Seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen, with gales of enthusiasm and ideas, provide the living spirit that is AHS. Hustling through the halls these more than seven hundred personalities may be found each day. In outward appearance, we range from the bashful freshman girl to the confident senior boy.

Each student enrolled in AHS is an individual who fills his own special niche. But together we are a student body.

Meet those for whom Astoria High exists, those who make AHS what it is — the personalities of 1958-59.

Seniors - - -

Gathered for a picture are senior officers Kristina Pernu, secretary; Jim Ferguson, vice president; Bridget Leigh, president; John Fremstad, treasurer; and Ted Baumgardner, sergeant-at arms.

Tossed in the happy confusion of high school winds, you, the class of 1959 embarked upon a career as high school students. Becoming familiar with old traditions, new classmates, teachers, and courses kept you busy as freshmen. Your first collective venture was building a homecoming float, "Wake the Town and Tell the People." A wild-west Frosh Frolic wowed the rest of the student body. A seemingly endless train of firsts — pep assemblies, elections, club activities, new studies — made the first year "far above Columbia's waters" tremendously varied and stimulating.

Remember undertaking with more confidence as sophomores, "King Neptune," your homecoming float, and "Tops in Pops," the Soph Hop. New academic experiences — meeting Will Shakespeare and Biology experiments — also awaited you as tenth-graders.

The half-way mark of the high school education was crossed and the home stretch begun in a completely new building. Now juniors and old hands at the business of homecoming, you proudly walked away with top honors in float competition. No less a success than "Hands Around the World" was your first formal dance — "Old Oaken Bucket" — and the first junior play, "Gramercy Ghost." The initial year in the new school was one for setting traditions and you juniors jumped on the wagon with an unprecedented junior-senior potluck.

How rich your senior year has been with memories! "Hero's Portrait," "Stairway to the Stars" and the "Solid Gold Cadillac" all figured largely in a busy schedule of class projects. Choosing announcements, class symbols, and baccalaureate were an exciting prelude to the climactic event of high school — graduation! College visitation and talks by service representatives helped you decide where and how to spend your future. But even while you were making plans for the years ahead, you looked back fondly at the fun and learning which made up high school years knowing that no matter where the future would take you, memories of your times at AHS would go too.

"You are Juniors now! Walk with your chins in the air." Do you, the Class of 1960, remember Miss Crouter's speech the first day of school? "Spirits of '60," you really took that speech to heart gaining recognition for your class.

came so close yet so far from winning that coveted trophy.

Fall — filled with activities and excitement! "I Speak for Democracy" — the first, but certainly not the last, big theme of the year. Remember all the "midnight oil" you burned over that?

You successfully produced your first play, "You Can't Take It With You." With the help of your advisers, Mrs. Ryavec and Mr. Reuter, everything went off smoothly. Work — but what fun!

Homecoming! The excitement of winning first place in the class spirit at school and the bonfire rally — Remember those crazy white sheets you wore? You

You will look back on the unforgettable Junior Prom with a little chuckle and a tear that it can not be done over.

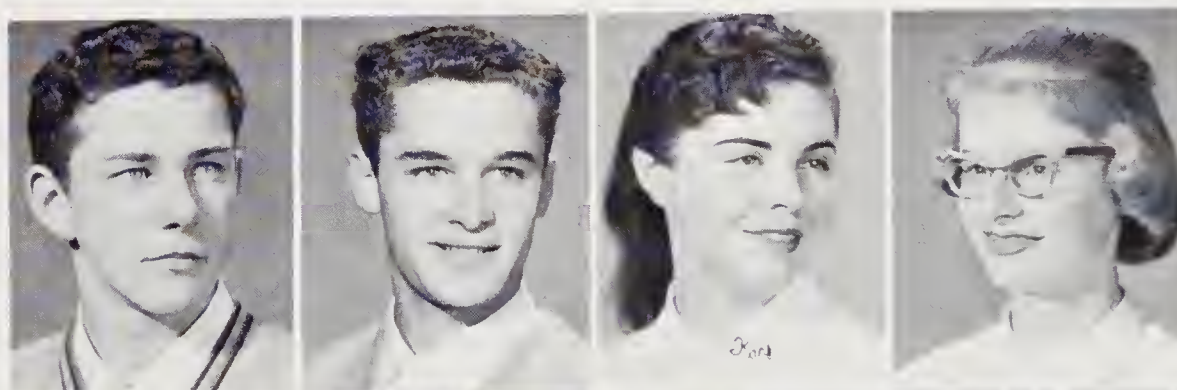

Now you can look ahead to being Seniors with confidence and reassurance gained through this year as Juniors.

Sophomores —

Steering their class on a straight course are the sophomore class officers Jerry Utti, president; John Westley, vice presi- dent; Faith Mattila, secretary; Merrily Jacobson, treasurer; and Joey Leahy, sergeant-at-arms.

"A class of leaders" best describes you, sophomores of 1958-59! As your class adviser, Mr Gross, put it, "The class of '61 has an exceptional number of fine leaders." He and Mrs. Nyland had good reason to be proud of you.

Supporting your officers with your whole-hearted co-operation and teamwork, you produced many successful class projects and gained the respect of all AHS.

Remember the thrill you felt when you heard . . . "The winner of the homecoming float trophy is . . . the class of '61 with their HOW THE TIME FLIES." All those hours of planning and working had paid off! There were other thrills, too, which brought no trophies, but will ever hold a place in your memory. Weren't you a little smug as you talked casually of "osmosis," "protozoa," and "pseudopods"? Didn't you feel grand as you became familiar with the drama behind the words . . . "Friends, Romans, Countrymen . . ."

What a relief it was when you finally learned to spell "Mediterranean!" Non-academic activities, too, made your sophomore year unforgettable. Remember laughing at the clever pantomime skit you presented for the first basketball game of the season? How loudly you shouted your homecoming motto, "Beat 'em, Bust 'em, that's our custom." All your best energies were poured into making "The Land of Oz" the Soph Hop you wanted it to be.

Yes, "class of leaders," each of you full of good ideas and the initiative to carry them out . . . you proved yourselves as sophomores, more than ready to assume the responsibilities of upperclassmen at Astoria High.

Freshmen —

The freshman class officers Sally Romppanen, secretary; Jenine Timmerman, treasurer; Vernon Fowler, president;

Janice Snow, vice president; Frank Martin, sergeant-at-arms have used their abilities to guide their class during the year.

"It was so different and exciting." — "So many new faces." — "Not too much homework." — "The teachers were friendly but exacting." — "Upperclassmen weren't too hard on you — not, most of the time." — "The thrill of games and dances!!" — "Oh, it was scary for awhile."

You think that this year has been the greatest. Probably your biggest thrill was Homecoming week. Competition was terrifically keen. You set out to win, ably guided by your advisers, Miss Friedrich and Mr. Phillips and by your energetic officers: Vernon Fowler, president; Sally Romppanen, secretary; and Jenine Timmerman, treasurer. Every member of the class participated in the lively activities. Hope was high on the night of the big game and you were not disappointed. The Freshmen were the first class to win the "All Events" homecoming trophy!

How you thrilled to dance at your own Frosh Frolic.

Yes, this year has been wonderful and you are looking forward to next fall and being Sophomores.

Mr. Parnell Newcomer to Faculty

New to Astoria High, like the freshmen, Mr. Parnell is well known to many AHS students, as he served six years as principal of Astor grade school. He was appointed to the position of vice principal and dean of boys after Mr. Sorenson's promotion to guidance counselor of Astoria schools late in the year.

In his leisure, Mr. Parnell is an avid golfer. Mrs. Parnell shares his interest, but seldom finds time to "tee-off," as Paula, aged three and Brian Scott, aged one, keep her well occupied. Summarizing his impressions so far of Astoria High, Mr. Parnell stated, "It is a pleasure to work in such magnificent surroundings. I find an attitude of friendly co-operation between teachers and students."

Two cheerful additions to the AHS secretarial staff this year were Mrs. Alma Clarke and Mrs. Myra Wilson. As the school's secretaries they spend each day keeping the office running smoothly.

They answer the telephones, type letters, mimeograph forms for classwork, and manage to make time in their busy schedules to answer students' innumerable questions.

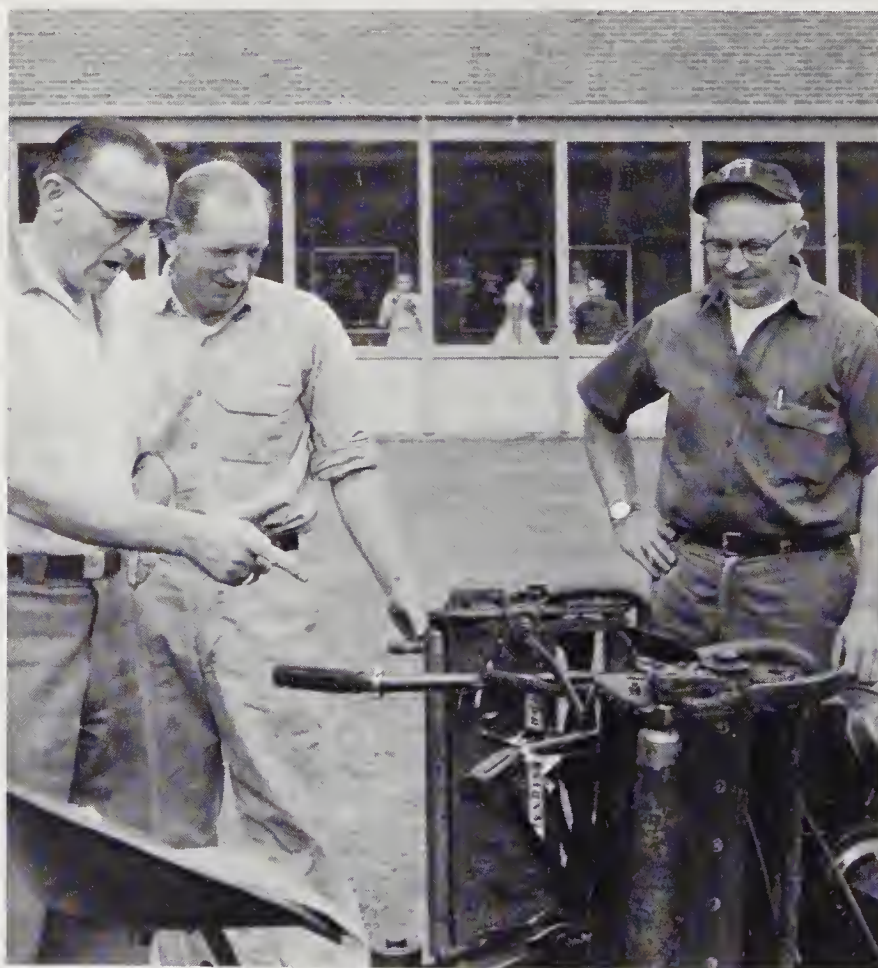

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Clarke, office secretaries, are hard at work on bills and alphabetizing report cards.

Office Staff, Cooks, Custodians Help

As you enter the school building on a typical Monday morning sparkling floors and gleaming fixtures greet your eyes. Who is responsible for the upkeep of Astoria High? The answer is, of course, the custodians, who maintain high standards in keeping the school plant clean.

These men, although handicapped by working in the school while it is in use, perform their varied tasks to keep AHS spotless.

"Scotty" Clark, maintenance supervisor, points out a defect in the mowing machine to Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Hanlan, two of the school's custodians.

Besides offering a varied menu five days a week, the Astoria High cooks sold toothsome and nutritious treats in the cafeteria snack bar. The addition of the ice cream machine added variety and a change from the milkshakes and candy also sold there.

Run School

GRADUATION

Graduation is recognition of courses finished, scholarships earned, and diplomas granted. It is a time of parting, when seniors leave their Alma Mater, fellow students, and teachers to enter the world of grownups where winds of adversity often mingle with the winds of chance and good fortune.

Donned in caps and gowns the class of '59 was together as a group for the last time as they proceeded individually to receive their diplomas. Never to be forgotten were the activities of the last weeks: sending announcements, preparing for and attending Baccalaureate, class day and finally graduation.

A time for celebration as well, graduation festivities included parties and get-togethers for the last time as high school students.

Valedictorian

Here is Miss Valedictorian herself, Hilikka Perttu. This fair-haired beauty came to Astoria from Finland, her native country and celebrated her tenth birthday on the way to the U.S.

Having no knowledge of the English language she was placed in the first grade. She applied herself so diligently to learning that she has now reached the top scholastic position in the class of '59.

Maintaining a 4.00 grade point average throughout her high school years, Hilikka has also been in numerous school activities. Her senior year she was a homecoming princess, member of national honor society, Mu Alpha Theta and Forensic alum.

Hilikka plans to enter Astoria Junior College next fall.

Salutatorian

Hailing from Lewis and Clark Consolidated school, salutatorian Pat Hannu joined the class of '59 as freshman.

She, like Hilikka is of Finnish descent.

An ambitious girl, Pat does her work without complaint. During four years of high school she has maintained a 3.97 grade point average. This year Pat has acted as re-write editor of the Zephyrus, doing all final triplicate copies for the publishers. She has also been a member of National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, Future Teachers of America and French Club.

Pat plans to enter Cascade College in Portland next fall where she will use her Classroom Teachers' and Business Women's scholarships to help finance her education. Miss Hannu hopes to be an elementary teacher.

Scholarship Winners

Scholarship aid comes as a reward for high school accomplishments and as a passport to college opportunities.

Astoria High scholarship winners include: Patricia Hannu, Business and Professional Women's Scholarship and Astoria Classroom Teachers' Scholarship; Donna White, Girls' League Scholarship; Dennis Thiel, Band Booster Scholarship; and John Fremstad, Elks' Most Valuable Student Scholarship.

College-bound with tuition scholarships are: Ralph Wright, alternate to O.S.C.; Bridget Leigh, tuition to Marylhurst; Donna White, tuition to O.S.C.; Kristina Pernu and Susan Amundsen, tuition to Pacific Lutheran College; Nadine Secrest, alternate for tuition to O.S.C.; and Sharon Clark, tuition to U. of O. Not pictured are: John Fremstad, O.S.C. scholarship winner; and Brian Paaso, U. of O. scholarship winner.

Pre-Commencement Festivities

Smiles light the faces of these seniors as they indulge in the pastime of exchanging cards and reading the messages written in their senior memory books.

Seniors are seen progressing through the "chow line" at the junior-senior dinner where a concentration camp atmosphere with stew to eat and army gear for decorations carried out the theme "Liberated."

Make "Moments to Remember"

Class Day was an afternoon program blending merriment and sentiment. Bridget Leigh, senior class president, coordinated the long-anticipated presentation.

Inspirational numbers on the baccalaureate program were the singing by the Freshman Girls' Glee, and the address, "The Man With Six Fingers," by Rev. Wm. Petersen.

Dampened clothes, but not dampened spirits, prevailed on June 9, as 158 rain-soaked people boarded a scow, sailed the mighty Columbia, and dropped anchor at "Fremstad Island" for the senior Luau.

SPONSORS & INDEX

"I have fallen in love with American names, the sharp ones that never get fat, the snakeskin-titles of mining-claims, the plumed war-bonnet of Medicine Hat, Tucson and Deadwood and Lost Mile Flat."

Stephen Vincent Benét

We agree, Mr. Benet, we've fallen in love with names too! Our names — how we like to see them in print. We like to look into the index of our Zephyrus and see our names followed by a list of our high school activities.

We like to see the names of our Astoria merchants in our book. We appreciate their help in making it possible.

Elks-sponsored Youth Day familiarized Astoria High School students with city government.

Last year the merchants of Astoria sponsored the Zephyrus for the first time. As it is seen, our yearbook grew to new heights of perfection. This year, the merchants again are sponsoring the Zephyrus. We hope this year's production will merit applause. Thank you, merchants of Astoria, for your trust and generosity. We hope this year's Zephyrus will show our appreciation for all you have done. Astoria is a stronghold of Oregon's history. During this Centennial year, many people will visit our town. We hope our town will grow. We hope the prosperity of our merchants will grow with the popularity of our town. Merchants of Astoria, we wish you "good luck."

Appreciate Your Continued Support

Participating as the Astoria High School Princess in this year's regatta, Mary Jane Kuratli represents her school and her town in the festivities.

We of Astoria High are proud to be represented by Mary Jane. We know she will do a good job publicizing both the school and the community during the regatta and the centennial.

We know she carries Astoria High's good wishes to the merchants and people of Astoria. We see only success and prosperity in store for our wonderful town.

Astoria's Regatta Princess, Mary Jane Kuratli, will have the job of greeting tourists at the Astor Column this summer.
